This last month has been truly a humbling experience for me. The church has been so gracious and loving in allowing time for me to be with Mom when she was in the hospital and nursing home. You sent flowers and cards which I know she greatly appreciated. The last two days I really thought she was going to make it through once again. She seemed stronger. She was alert and able to make decisions. Then suddenly it was over. I know it happens like that a lot of the time.

Her church had switched its traditional service to an earlier time shortly before she moved here, so she was very glad to be able to get to go to church again and mingle with people. As those of you who have had relatives who were house-bound know, the greatest difficulty for the elderly is often loneliness. Mom enjoyed Sunday school and Evangelical Daughters.

Comments from the Church Mouse

As a little church mouse I find spring time invigorating. Pastor Gail had an open book that I was able to snuffle through, and I found that I was not the only one who liked spring. Let me show you what some poet's have said.

“An optimist is the human personification of spring”

- - Margaret Elizabeth Sangster

“Spring is God’s way of saying, ‘One more Time!’”

“The year’s at the spring,
And day’s at the morn;
Morning’s at seven;
The hill-side’s dew-pearled;
The lark’s on the wing;
The snail’s on the thorn;
God’s in his Heaven-
All’s right with the world!”

Doesn’t that make you feel good and, hopefully, want to come to church and praise God with other worshippers for this wonderful time of year?

- - Robert Browning,
The Year’s at the Spring

June and July Tidings Newsletter

June and July newsletters are normally slim pickings. Not much is going on in the summer. So we are going to combine June and July Tidings.

So when you receive the next newsletter at the end of May for June. The Tidings will be for July as well. This will save on paper and postage.

Deadline for this issue will be: Sunday, May 15th.

A boy was watching his father, a pastor, write a sermon.

“How d you know what to say? He asked.

“Why, God tells me.”

“Oh, then why do you keep crossing things out?”

The Sunday School Teacher asks, “Now Johnny, tell me frankly do you say prayers before eating?”

“No sir,” little Johnny replies, I don’t have to. My mom is a good cook.”

I have been overwhelmed by the cards, condolences and love shown me and my family since Mom passed. Many of you sent food when you heard Hope and her family were coming for the burial. Some of you sent memorial gifts which will be donated to the Daughter's Carpet Fund since the sanctuary carpet will soon need replacing. The Council sent a lovely plant/floral arrangement for the Memorial service.

Late, the morning after Mom's death, after we had made preliminary funeral arrangements, Ron and I returned to Marissa and I came to the church to check my phone messages. I had one person with a water turn-off notice and two with Ameren power cut-off notices. Having to put others needs before my own, might have been the best thing for me, for I realized that while I needed to mourn, that did not stop the earth from turning and the needs of some in this community are great. In the last two weeks I have had two requests for help with water bills, and four or more with Ameren turn-off notices. One person said that because Ameren can't turn off the power during the winter months, they didn't send bills either. This person had not had a bill in two or three months. (Whether there is anyway of verifying this claim, I don't know.)

Many of you came by the office, especially after those first few days to check and see how I was doing. So far so good, although there is a hole there and I am sure after Easter when there isn't as much to do, I will feel the loss more than I have allowed myself to do so now. In the meantime, I am forever thankful for this church and for my husband, Ron. Without you, I don't know how I could get through.

Due to Mom's illness, Ron and I did not get out and canvas the neighborhood as we had planned for the Welcome Sunday. Susie Stewart and Bobbi Duffie have put together Welcome bags for visitors, however, and have given at least one to a guest. We did have four visitors on Sunday April 10 and I know that everyone enjoyed and appreciated the wonderful Social Hour before church on April 10.

Blessing, Pastor Gail
